

.....Antidotum Tarantulae.....

A group which proposes a different listening experience; a modern perspective of traditional folk music of Southern Italy and the Mediterranean sounds in general. Listening to the group Antidotum Tarantulae, you may hear an enchanting tarantella or a simple erotic anthem or even a Greek-spoken song of Southern Italy. Listeners have a sense that they are surrounded by the music of the 21st century, by a group which creates sounds and rhythms of a world familiar to all of us.

The group was formed in 2002 and thereafter they have participated in numerous festivals and municipality events, in Athens and other Greek cities – ‘Aischyleia’, ‘Taureia’, Athens festival at the Theatre of Dora Stratou, Pineios festival - as well as in Italian festivals – ‘Festa della Pizzica’, ‘Cantacasona’, ‘Raduno Battentisti’, ‘Etnomalia al Paisà’, ‘Pratola folk festival’ – and recently in the international festival ‘Roots: Mediterranean Sounds & Spirits Festival’.

The group has performed with outstanding Italian artists like Simone Mongelli, Gianluca Zammarelli, Emilia Ottaviano, Giustino Radano, Antonio Martone (O’ Lione).

Their first cd album was released in December 2008, under the label ‘Parousia’ of Vasilis Hatziiakovou.
